

Canadian Rockies: Visual Palette of the Northwest with Charles Needle & Marvin Price

With its towering jagged peaks, pristine azure-blue, glacier-fed lakes, and quiet meadows teeming with colorful wildflowers, the Canadian Rockies offers some of the most breathtaking, awe-inspiring scenery on the North American Continent — especially in late June/early July.

Among the many locations you'll photograph on this five-day digital-capture workshop: Lake Louise, Moraine Lake (pictured above), The Athabasca Glacier, Peyto Lake, Vermillion Lake at sunrise, Mystia Canyon and Maligne Lake. And there's a good chance you'll encounter big-horn sheep, elk and moose along the way.

We'll base our activities at The Crossing Resort on the beautiful Icefields Parkway, ideally situated halfway between the picturesque towns of Banff and Jasper.

The workshop includes: group assignments, lectures covering specialized topics, demonstrations, and lots of personalized field and classroom instruction from two of the most knowledgeable, experienced, and enthusiastic instructors you'll ever encounter. Topics covered include: the grand landscape vs. intimate landscape, creative macro, and how to master challenging lighting situations.
